

LOWER FOLKSTONE ROAD. SANDGATE. 29228 J.V.

Sower Bridge Road

Thursday, August 22, 2002

Bird's Eye View

Photograph:
Simon Burchett
Ref: XXXyhy

THIS week we are swooping over
Viera Road, Radnor Cliff and Radnor Cliff Crescent in Sandgate.
If you would like a full colour A4
(2x8in) copy of this photo, send a cheque, made out to Simon Burchett, for £12.50 with your name, address and the reference number printed above to: Channel Photography, 2

Hampden Mews, Kingsnorth Road,

Ashford, Kent TN23 6HX. Inquiries only: 01233 661697, or email:
info@channelphotography.com

Look out next week in Homefinder to see if your home is featured.

FOLKESTONE Herald

THURSDAY, AUGUST 22, 2002

1ST CHOICE IN SHEPWAY* (Source: NOP Feb 98)

40p

KENT REGIONAL NEWSPAPERS

THE VOICE OF FOLKESTONE

NAKED COP'S BIG PAY-OUT

Streaking sergeant's early retirement

By REBECCA SMITH

A POLICE sergeant from Folkestone who faced allegations of sexual harassment will be retired on a substantial pension.

Sgt Anthony Round was suspended from duty after a complaint by a female member of staff.

While the complaint was under investigation the Herald exclusively revealed Sgt Round had been stopped by colleagues in May after baring all in a streak.

The owners of Sandling Park locked themselves in the house and called police when Sgt Round appeared on their grounds.

He jogged and walked around in the nude around the private estate for some 45 minutes. Sgt Round was caught by former colleagues and taken to a psychiatric ward but has since returned home.

Doctors who have been assessing Sgt Round have decided he unfit to return to duty.

The final decision was made the last week.

He will now retire from the police service in October on grounds of ill health and receive a police pension.

Any disciplinary action may have faced as a consequence of the allegations against him have also been halted.

A police spokesman said: "That is the deal. If you retire on grounds of ill health you receive a pension and any disciplinary action is also stopped."

WONDERLAND: kids from the Emporium float

IF YOU were at home on Saturday wondering what all the fuss was about then our centre pages are for you.

Folkestone Carnival closed roads, made shops shut early and emptied pubs - if only for a short while. The town was full of colourful characters, extraordinary floats and music throughout the evening, and thousands of people turned out to see it.

If you missed it, or just want to relive the memories, turn inside. WHO got married on carnival day? See page 3.

Conference hotel plan for cliffside

Exclusive by ALEX HOAI

FOLKESTONE could be the setting for an innovative hotel built into the side of the Leas cliffs, the Herald can reveal.

The plans for the hotel were drawn up by Elham-based architect Jeff Wells, and the building is likely to be built next to the Leas Lift.

It is believed the plans have been drawn up and given to Shepway council who have given their backing to the artists and spoken to hotel operators about the idea.

A well-placed source in the council told the Herald a major UK hotelier is in the frame to build and run it, and is believed to have European financial backing.

However Andy Jarrett, head of economic development at Shepway council, could not confirm this. But he told the Herald: "It is certainly the sort of scheme that we are looking for and which we would support to. But I cannot comment on any specific case."

Manager of the Leas Cliff Stephen Levine said: "I knew all the plans, but until now I've not seen them with a pinch of salt."

"We have been lobbying to hotel accommodation and we are looking to build more to see development of that kind."

The Leas Cliff Hall conference centre opens next spring and hotels would help in luring businesses to use it.

SCOOP PURCHASE

Pre Registered IBIZA
1.25 S 3DR

Air Con, Metallic Paint, PAS

ONLY
£7995

The Solution is
Hollis Motors

Cheriton High St, Folkestone

Tel 01303 275065

www.hollismotors.co.uk

SEAT

Radnor Terrace, Sandgate, Kent.

Radnor Cliff

THIS VERY LARGE OBJECT WAS RECENTLY DUG UP IN THE GROUNDS OF WELL HOUSE, RADNOR CLIFF

(HAS NOW BEEN DESTROYED)

with Spanish garden. Later No 34 Radnor Cliff. Former resident Sir Squire Bancroft, who laid foundation stone Chichester Hall

